In an effort to increase efficiencies and shore up costs, companies across the board have taken steps to automate their procurement process, streamlining the sourcing and purchase of the direct materials and indirect goods needed to fuel their business. But many have let a key category untouched. Within the average organization, services such as temporary labor, consulting, and print account for more than 80 percent of total spend. Yet the category remains outside the reach of procurement and the processes used to drive it. As a result, significant savings are being left on the table.

But they don't need to stay there. There is a better way.

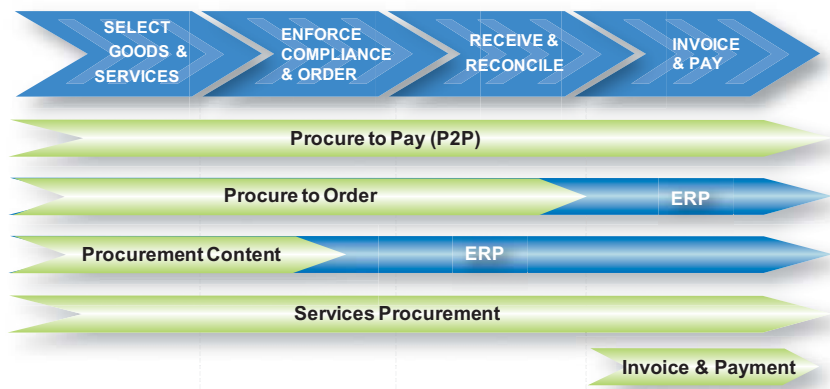

Why Ariba Services Procurement

Ariba Services Procurement combines the technology and expert capabilities needed to effectively automate and control services spend. A unique Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) solution, Ariba Services Procurement delivers savings on any type of services by enabling the processes and procedures needed to increase spend under management and drive comprehensive compliance.

As a contingent labor Vendor Management Solution (VMS), Ariba allows users in Human Resources and Procurement departments to partner not only on hourly labor but also on consultants who manage projects based on time and materials, fixed fee, milestones, or a hybrid. Invoice Against Contract Services can also be managed where requisitions are not required. For Non-PO services such as maintenance, Ariba ensures the proper approvals and contract compliance.
